

6516209730.txt

I have found the new XM radio services more valuable and detailed than information presently available on AM or FM broadcasts. XM provides me with advance warning of problems that I can plan ahead to reduce or avoid in my travels. I find XM radio a service well worth the price for a subscription, and I do not think it is the role of government to limit what a responsible concern like XM radio decides to offer its customers.